ISSUED WEEKLY.

R. C. WALKER, Publisher.

Congress re-assembled Tuesday. The first guns discharged by the Legislature are being trained at the lotteries.

In organizing the committee of the House at Frankfort, Speaker Moore remembered his friends.

There is trouble in the G. A. R. (Louisiana); the colored brother is a disturbing element. Eight of the white boys propose to secede from the National organization.

It's Senator David Hill now, and if Davis can get the lever and fulcrum placed right, it will be President Hill some of these days, but not while Grover tarries.

Speaker Moore gave Crittenden and Livingston's representative a chairmanship. This is an honor that does not frequently come this way, and we rise to return thanks.

Mr. Mills has gone to Texas to spend a couple of weeks until he recovers from his recent illness, and again it is announced that he is sulking. Mr. Mills is an ex-Kentuckian, consequently is not made of the stuff that sulks.

Our member of the Legislature, Hon. J. R. Summers, was appointed by Speaker Moore to the Chairmanship of the committee on Mines and Mining; he also goes on the committee of Ways and Means and Legislative Districts. Mr. Summers is very well cared for in this respect, and the Press is glad of it.

sum of $1,000,000 back taxes. As Governor, John Young Brown is turning his attention to certain railroads which occupy a somewhat similar relation to the people of the State as the bridge corporation did to the people of Henderson. What will the harvest be?

We observe that some of the prominent lawyers of this judicial district in gauging at the location of the counties after the redistricting, make Henderson, Union and Webster a district, leaving Crittenden out; while West of us parties formulate a new district including the adjoining counties, and there we are left out again. Now what has Crittenden done that she should be left entirely out of the count? Gentleman, we notify you now that we are going to be in some district; we have our preference, but we are not as darned particular as some of you; and besides this we are going to ask for some of the honors and emoluments incident to a district, no matter whether we are joined to the peaceful counties around us, or tied to the wild and woolly Breathitt. Now you have heard from us, do as you please.

What the Governor Says.

Governor Brown in his message to the Legislature goes direct to the matters he desires that body to consider, leaving no room for doubt as to the position he occupies on State affairs. Reviewing the Auditor's report he says: "Two additional estimates that there will be at the close of the fiscal year, June 30, 1892, a deficit of the sum of $472,765.71. To meet this he suggests that the sum due the State under the refunding act of Congress be borrowed from the school fund, according to a provision made by the constitutional convention, extending bond to the Board of Education therefor."

Under the subject of "railroads exempt from taxation," the Governor says the total valuation of non-taxpaying roads for four last years is $35,964,091, from which, if taxed as other property, the State, at the present rate of 4 1/2 cents on the $100 of value, would have received $162,847.34. He further says that in his humble judgment the law exempting these roads from taxation is unconstitutional, and the Legislature ought to enact laws to remove the collection of these unpaid taxes.

Under the head of "tax on distilled spirits," he refers to the law that subjects all distilled spirits to county and state taxation, and says the law is not enforced, and stringent laws should be made for its enforcement.

Reviewing the condition of the State prison the Governor says: "There are 898 convicts in the Frankfort penitentiary and 357 in the Eddyville prison. At Frankfort there is not sufficient room. The building of the branch penitentiary at Eddyville is reviewed and considering the enormous expense already incurred and that to be borne before the work is complete, and the inconvenience of the location, the Governor arrives at the conclusion that the building of this branch was a "stupendous mistake." He further says: "Now, if the enlargement of the penitentiary at the capital should be regarded as practicable and wise, it might be that the branch penitentiary, with the consent of the lessees, could be utilized as a House of Reform."

Touching the expenses of the record books to the state, the executive says a remedy for curtailing this expense is the requiring of each county to buy its record books. In 1891 the rate paid for books, for the various counties, $25,744.63. To prevent frauds in the cost of prosecutions, more stringent laws should be made.

"A reasonably liberal appropriation for the purpose of securing a creditable exhibit of the products of our great state at the Columbian Exposition to be held at Chicago in 1893," recommended.

"I regard," says the Governor, "the office of Inspector and Examiner as indispensable. His work annually saves to the Commonwealth many times over the cost of the salary and expenses of report and return; to visit as directed by the Executive, the asylums, penitentiaries, circuit and county clerks' offices, trustees of the jury fund, and other officials and agents of the State, and make careful investigation of their accounts and receipts and expenditures, and report all irregularities and delinquencies."

The creation of a State Bank Inspector is recommended as a preventive of bank frauds. The attention of the Legislature is called to the enormous expenses of criminal prosecutions. In one district these prosecutions cost $10,626.37, while in another the cost was only $4,887.60.

Foreign corporations, with branches in the State should be looked after and made to bear their burden of taxation.

There are 2,120 patients in the three lunatic asylums, and to provide more room, one or more of these should be enlarged instead of building new ones.

The parole law the Governor considers unconstitutional, but he says: "It would gratify me if the question could have judicial determination."

A resolution directing the Attorney General to suppress all lotteries in the state is suggested.

Upon the subject of education the Governor says: "The safety of our Republic in coming years will depend, in a great measure, upon the degree of the education of our children. They should be so taught as to have an intelligent comprehension of the basic principles of our government, and the duties of citizenship."

That the precious liberties, which are their heritage, may be guarded with vigilance and courage. We should all be gratified that, in our commonwealth, perhaps the largest direct tax imposed in any of the States of the Union, is collected for the support of our Common Schools.

This is prorated between the white and the negro children. I trust that all suggestions for the improvement of our system of free education may have your thoughtful and generous consideration, as no more important subject will claim your attention, or have a more commanding influence upon the future character and welfare of the State."

The Geological Survey is not commensurate with its cost, says the Governor, a least amount for the establishment of a strictly Immigration Bureau would be worth more.

Kentucky at the World's Fair.

The Louisville Commercial Club is making a praiseworthy effort to organize the people of Kentucky for the purpose of securing a creditable exhibit of Kentucky's industries and resources at the World's Fair. A short time ago, county judge Moore received a letter asking him to call a mass meeting of the citizens of Crittenden county for the purpose of appointing delegates to a State Conference to be held in Louisville Jan. 20, 21, to successfully reach the end desired. In accordance with the request Judge Moore has appointed next Monday, Jan. 12, as the time for holding the mass meeting at the court house in Marion. The citizens of the county are earnestly requested to attend this meeting and lend their assistance in the invidious steps of this great work. No county has a greater outcome than Crittenden, and no opportunity for hastening the day of development has ever presented itself to us. Capital and enterprise from all parts of the world will be at Chicago searching for localities that promise to reward labor and money. With our minerals properly displayed, we might attain in a moment, which by the ordinary waiting process, would require years. Besides this other States will have exhibits worthy of their greatness, and State pride should urge us to action that we may shine with a luster commensurate with our worth. This can be done by the active co-operation of all the counties. Let us do our part.

Salern.

I have seen nothing from this place for a long time. This is strange too, for Salern is in a prosperous condition and the enthusiasm of its citizens prompt them to report progress now and then, but in the absence of any other I will send you a few lines.

The holidays passed off in the usual quiet way and many a heart made to rejoice by its coming.

"Tibbs" from the business circles: Farris & Brown—"Boys, if Nmas would last forever and our customers would purchase their shoes on Saturday, we would soon be in the 'swim'."

H D Woodbridge & Co.—Business brisk and all that we could ask. Old Monarch takes the day.

E F Brown—I'm selling out at cost; price it take it.

H D McChesney—My holiday trade was immense; will always welcome Nmas.

G G Hammond—"Time" for all things, but I fix your watches while you wait.

Robert B. surprise you, I am married.

Frederick, a son of Charles Lloyd, performed by Rev M E Campbell.

There are but few in this community but are, or who have been afflicted with the gripple.

J H Miller, an aged man of Bethlehem, died of la gripple two weeks since.

Mrs M E Chappell's daughters are visiting relatives in Indiana.

Malcomb Buckner was badly burned while "shooting an anvil" Christmas.

D. B. Ferguson and family will leave in a few days for Benton, to make it their future home.

The Misses Cahn, of Princeton, returned home Sunday after a visit of several days to the Misses Wigginton.

C N Byrd has had a new front added to his store house. It will be occupied as a dry goods store. Two new dry goods stores will be opened up here in a few days.

Jacobs & Deboe will continue business at the old stand, with greatly increased facilities for accommodating their many customers with anything they may want in the grocery line.

The average attendance in Sunday school here for 1891 was 66 each Sunday.

Will O'Hara, of Eddyville was here last week to see what the prospects are for his future earthly felicity.

H C Turley's family of Bethlehem were town Sunday evening.

Joe Doon, of Lyon, was in the neighborhood a day or two last week. D T Byrd's family have moved to their new house up in town.

Every voter should subscribe for the Courier-Journal. W C Glenn will save you postage and register fee on any paper or magazine you may want.

Gabe Wathen and family are the guests of Hugh McConnell's family.

Miss Nannie Paris has closed her school and is now at home.

Miss Daisy Wilborn, spent the holidays at home.

The social at Mr McConnell's was very much enjoyed by the young people, also the party on the following evening at W B Wilborn's.

The Macons celebrated the 26th with a grand dinner at Western.

Geo Nesbitt returned from Evansville last week, where, he has been in purchase goods.

Rose Dale.

Hoping that every one has had a merry Christmas, and a happy New Year we will come again.

We are sorry to note that Mrs Hugh McMaster, Mr. Hugh Hardesty, and Mrs Robt Harrell are on the sick list this week.

Miss Lizzie McMaster visited the Misses Answorth's last week.

We had a literary at the school house last Thursday, after which Rev Belt addressed the patrons and pupils on the growth of the human mind.

Mr Willis Wright is very sick. House raising and quilting at Win Nation's last Saturday.

The back up pretty soon it will be loading.

J H Britts has got his new chimney about completed.

John Corn and Miss David Wright were married at the residence of the bride's father last week. We extend our congratulations.

I think from all prospects there will be a wedding or two across the way before long.

iences of a modern hotel.

Mr. B. F. Copestall, of Marion, Ill., was in town last week. He came over to get some data relative to the mineral lands of this county for a company that has been looking in this direction for investments of that character. Later on an agent of the company will probably come and make a more thorough investigation.

Mr. J. M. Horning and Miss Alice Neal were united in marriage last Thursday. Both are popular young people of the Shady Grove neighborhood and many friends join with the parents in wishing them a long, prosperous life. Immediately after the marriage ceremony, they came to Marion and took the train for Evansville, where they spent three days.

Mrs. M. H. Coffield has retired from the hotel business in Marion, and is negotiating for a hotel elsewhere. She is one of the best hotel keepers Marion ever had; under her management the Coffield House was unrivalled in popularity, and where-ever she locates she will merit success for the way in which to run a first class house for the traveling public.

Police Judge A. M. Hearin came to the finish of his forty-eighth year Tuesday, and he commemorated the event by gathering a number of his friends at a splendid dinner, composed of all the dainties of the season, and prepared to the taste of the party, was served, and zest was added to the enjoyable affair by the fund of humor and open hospitality of the host and the charming graces of his good wife.

Mr. Frank McCoy has moved, his family going to Chicago. His failure in the mill business at Blackford threw his financial affairs into a bad shape, and creditors at this place detained his household goods, and he is still here endeavoring to arrange matters. We understand that the mill has been sold to parties from Colorado, and they are expected to be here about the 12th. If the trade is closed, Mr. McCoy will come out all right.

When in Evansville last week we stopped at the Sherwood House.
Mr. T. C. Bridwell who had charge of Crittenden Springs one season, is running the Sherwood, and he makes everything pleasant for his guests. The tables are well supplied and the service would satisfy the most particular. Most of the Crittenden county people who go to Evansville stop with Mr. Bridwell and all commend the house.

A SPECIALTY.

They Will Spend It.

Next Monday when Judge Moore holds his regular term of County Court, and order will be made directing the County Clerk to spread upon the order book the certificate of the election board, certifying that local option received a majority of the votes cast at the polls in Marion precinct at the last August election.

According to the order of Circuit Court, the Board re-convened, and opened up the polls, heard evidence and argument concerning the legality of certain votes, and the duties of the Board. This final overhauling resulted in reducing the majority for local option from 12 to 7 votes.

This decision was reached, to some extent, as a compromise, as at least one member of the Board, thinks that there is really only four majority. When the certificate is spread next Monday, the law will apply, and whether its provisions will be obeyed or not remains to be seen.

It is said that the plaintiffs in the suit, F. E. Robertson & Co., have settled other grounds for contesting the law, and that their faith in the ultimate triumph of their view is so strong that they will continue selling liquor, and should indictments be found, the fight as to the legality of the election or constitutionality of the local option as applied in this district will be made.

A Pretty Good Judgement.

A special term of circuit court was held Tuesday of last week to try the case of Wm. Stout against the Evansville Grain Co. The suit grew out of the railroad tie business. The plaintiff got judgement for $1300.

County Court Orders.

The following claims were allowed:
S. B. Perkins, reaping roof of old clerk's office, $10.00.

R. F. Dorr, coffin for Jane Parmley's child, $4.

John Lamb, lumber for bridges, $11.10.

Sheriff's Bond for the New Year.

Monday Sheriff Grace filed his bond, according to law, for the collection of the State and county tax for the year 1892. Messrs. L. W.
Crane, W. J. Crane, J. F. Adams, J.
P. Pierce, J. F. Loyd, P. B. Crotch, and R. L. Moore, jr., are his bondsmen.

Holiday Weddings.

The following marriage licenses have been issued:
J. H. Wiloughby and Sarah Spurr;
J. H. Turley and Liddle Cannon;
J. M. Horning and Alice Neal;
J. W. Corn and Martha Wright;
J. W. Humes and Nancy Robertson;
Jno W. Blue, jr., and Mary Wilson;
Andy Kinton and Josie Hodge; Eljah Campbell and Burnis Stokes; Albert McEwin and Laura McEwin.

Blue-Wilson.

Married, Thursday, Dec. 31, 1891, at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Dell Wilson, of this place, Mr. J. W. Blue, jr., to Miss Mary H. Wilson, Rev. S. K. Breeding officiating. On account of the illness of Mrs. Wilson the wedding was a quiet affair. Only a few intimate friends witnessed the ceremony which united two lives, where two hearts had long been one. Miss Wilson is well known and deserved ly popular in Marion's best society.
Mr. Blue is the county's popular attorney, and hundreds of friends wish all the happiness that two fond ambitious hearts desire.

Thirty-Second Wedding Anniversaries.

Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Crayne celebrated their thirty-second wedding anniversary Friday, Dec. 25, 1891.
Their children as well as a number of friends joined the party that spent the day very pleasantly with Mr. and Mrs. Crayne, who were the recipients of a number of nice presents. Splendid music was discus-ed by Messrs. Sam Walker, C. F.
Dollins and Newton Crayne. The occasion was indeed an enjoyable one. The entire party hopes that the happy couple may live to celebrate many more of their wedding anniversaries.

And Again.

We must insist that you call at once and settle your account. We want either the money or your note.
Please do not let us call your attention to this matter any more, but come in immediately and oblige, certainly has been successful. There have been no complaints, scarcely against the school, but the pupils and patrons have seemed to be pleased.

Will the people of Marion patronize the spring term? There will be good teachers and tuition will be as low as you can ask.

Hold on There.

Don't rush by A. Lamb, but stop

Wedding Bells.

"As unto the bow the cord is,
So unto man is woman."
Though she lead him, she follows.
Though she leads him, she follows.

On Christmas Eve when all nature seemed resplendent with "Peace on earth, good will toward all men," a large crowd had assembled in the magnificently decorated church at Salem to witness the merging of two noble young lives into one, the groom being Mr. Frank Taylor, a prominent young farmer of this county, and son of C. A. Taylor, of Marion, and the bride, Miss Matilda Butler, the beautiful and accomplished daughter of Mrs. Frank Butler, of our town.

At seven o'clock the clear tones of the organ pealing forth the Wedding March announced to the waiting congregation that everything was now in readiness. Ushers D. B. Boyd and Plinton Boyd, S. D. Hodge and Harry McChesney first entered, followed by F. V. Matlock and Miss Anna LaRue, and they by W. E. Cox and Miss Annie McChesney, next came the beautiful bride and mainly groom, upon whom all eyes were riveted. The bride and bridesmaids were tastefully attired in cream colored silk with orange blossoms, while the groom and groomsmen wore the conventional black.

As the handsome couple stood under the large horseshoe suspended from the ceiling, the beautiful and impressive ceremony which made them one forever was pronounced. Everyone joined most heartily in the wish that the horsehoe might indeed be to them an emblem of "good luck" and they might live to enjoy a long, happy and useful life, up to the threshold of which they now seemed to be standing.

After the tying of the nuptial knot the wedding party repaired to their carriage and were driven to the home of the bride's mother, where a sumptuous feast awaited them. At ter supper all were highly entertained until a late hour when they bade each other good night, feeling as they went to their homes, the consciousness of a pleasantly spent evening.

On Christmas day an elegant reception was given the bridal party at the residence of the bride's father in Marion.

The many presents received by the young couple are attestations of the great esteem in which they are held by all who know them. The following is the list: Marion—Oke stand, W. G. Hammond; glass pitcher, Cam Wallace;

DEATHS DOINGS.

WHAT THE CRUEL FATE HAS BEEN DOING FOR TWO WEEKS PAST.

Elder Isaac McMurray Dead.

Elder Isaac McMurray died at the home of his son, J. S. McMurray, at Repton, Monday morning, after months of suffering, borne with that cheerful resignation which emanates only from a life devoted to the deepest sense, to the God who gave it.
As was stated in a recent issue of the PRESS, Isaac McMurray came a few weeks ago, from his adopted home on the Pacific slope, to his native hearth to die. His was a long and useful life; years ago he was prominent in the affairs of Crittenden county; he was the first school commissioner of the county, and helped a lay the foundation upon which our present successful public schools are built. He was also prominent in his church, and hundreds of the older people remember and admire his rugged, faithful christian character. The remains were interred in the cemetery near Repton Tuesday evening at four o'clock. He will live long in the memory of the people of the county, and when his history is written its pages will not be complete without his name.

Died Suddenly.

Mr. J. C. Corn, a respectable farmer of the Flatlick neighborhood, died very suddenly Friday night On the evening previous to his death he retired in good spirits and apparently in the best of health.
The next morning his wife awoke and called to him to get up. There was no reply, and she placed her hand on his face and it was cold.
The family was aroused and it was found that he was dead. He was subject to slight attacks of heart disease, and while asleep the messenger of death came. Mr. Corn was in his 54th year. He came to this county from Illinois in his 8th year, and has resided here ever since.

Rev. J. W. Buntion a minister of the Methodist church, South, and well known in this county, died at Kuttawa Sunday night, of consumption. The remains were buried in the cemetery near Pinkneyville, Livingston county.
